

Consumers are responsible of translating the provider object to local context.

Each provider and consumer transform to/from canonical data model.

