

HIVEMIND USER GUIDE

Welcome to Hivemind!

For an installation guide, see the separate document of the same name.

Hivemind is a simple mobile app that will help you take, share, and organize your notes.

With Hivemind, all notes belong to a “hive”. Hives are used to categorize your notes, say, for different classes you're taking or different projects you're working on.

To get started, simply choose a hive and add some notes! If you're joining a hive which already has notes, you'll be able to see them right after joining. If you're in a hive, you have access to all of the notes in that hive.

Getting Started

To get started with Hivemind, start the app and tap “sign-up”. After submitting your desired credentials, you'll be able to log in.

Your User View

Upon logging in, you'll be presented with a view of your account details and a menu from which you can access all other app functionality. You can return to this view at any time by tapping the app's “home” button.

Checking Notes

You can view notes that already exist in a hive by pressing “view notes”.

Editing Notes

You can alter notes by tapping “edit notes”.

Deleting Notes

You can delete notes by tapping “edit notes”, selecting a note, and then tapping “delete”.

Taking Notes

You can add a new note to a hive by tapping “take notes”.

Getting Help

You can tap the question mark (“?”) on any view to get help about that part of the app.

Finishing Up

You can log out of Hivemind with the “log out” button.
